A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM LADY OLGA MAITLAND

Dear Friends,

From my very rural lockdown in North Norfolk, I am sending you a personal message asking you to support neighbouring Hindringham Hall in its bid to win the Historic Houses 2020 Garden of the Year Award.

I do know the house and gardens well ,and urge any visitor to Norfolk to visit. The gardens are magical, very personally designed by Lynda Tucker and her husband Charles. Through their work, they have attracted interest from all over the world. More than that, they are up against the great houses and gardens in Britain who have considerable manpower and resources behind them.

So please, do register your vote, (let me know if you have done so) – and VISIT! ... Then come over to see us just outside the charming village of Wighton. This makes for a nice day out.

All the best

Olga

Hindringham Hall Gardens

Historic Houses 2020 Garden of the Year award

shortlisted for the prestigious

Historic Houses 2020 Garden of the Year award

Give a big hurra – and a vote - for a gem of a garden at Hindringham Hall, a moated Tudor manor house on a Medieval site. It is the ONLY Norfolk garden on the prestigious short list.

The competition is fierce - amongst previous winners were Houghton Hall, Kiftsgate Court and Blenheim Palace and the shortlist of 8 is chosen by the Historic House judges.

Hindringham Hall's unique magic is recognised worldwide, and regularly featured by leading publications such as Gardens Illustrated and The English Garden. Our regional newspaper - Eastern Daily Press is championing Hindringham for the vote. TV West Anglia has interviewed the creator, Lynda Tucker and her garden has brought the attention of garden writer, Stephen Lacey, who described it as "Paradise Regained". Leslie Geddies-Brown, another distinguished writer said, 'Perfect in Every Detail'. The Guardian included it in 'The best secret gardens in Britain'

The winner from the shortlist of 8 is decided by public vote.

Everyone can vote. YOUR VOTE COUNTS!
